Applicable Company Policies:

Pikes Peak is the tallest peak in Colorado. At over 4000 Meters high many people experience altitude sickness when going up to the top to work. We encourage everyone to take it slow, stay hydrated, and communicate with their managers if they are feeling ill. Altitude sickness is normal and it can take time to get adjusted to it.

We operate 3 operations on the mountain, each a little higher up. Students can expect to work in the different operations to get used to the high elevation. Work days are very long due to the commute up the mountain. We provide transportation to and from work.

We do not allow the use of cell phones during work, as cell phones do not work at the top of the mountain.

There is no smoking, e-cigarettes, vapes, or tobacco products allowed on the mountain.

We follow all US CDC guidelines in regards to COVID safety and protocol. Safety policies may adjust during the time due to local ordinances.
